

Alfred Amanti (American b. 1914) Keep the Home Fires Burning, oil on canvas, 1935

Not much is known about the life or career of Alfred Amanti. He was a New Yorker who used a play on the popular WWI song to highlight the plight of the poor and veterans whose “home fires” burned only in the street barrels of the city.